Clan Analogue's Activities during 2019-2020

Releases

CA053: Mobile Strategies: Battery-Powered Sonics / Various Artists

Mobile Strategies was released in October 2019, compiled by Martin Koszolko. The album is a survey of international mobile music making, with the artists included using technologies such as cheap portable synths, boutique miniature noise-making gadgets, or apps on smartphone or tablet to make their music.

"This album showcases various mobile strategies ranging from a track made on a bus, one made in the mountains to those in fully equipped studio spaces, as mobile technologies can be used stand-alone as well as alongside other gear." Martin Koszolko

Mobile Strategies was launched at Café Gummo, Thornbury, on Friday 25th of October, as part of the Darebin Music Feast festival, with live sets from KOshowKO, Ming, Aday, 477 and Maddest Kings Alive.

The album release was accompanied by a limited edition zine which included photos from each artist of the equipment used and explanations of the creative process behind each track. A competition to design the layout of the booklet was run at SAE Institute Melbourne's Design school, with Mytharia Jazz's design being selected as the winning one. The other students' designs were available as alternative pdf versions for download from Clan Analogue's Bandcamp page.

The Bandcamp edition of Mobile Strategies included six bonus tracks in addition to the 19 on the album. Of the 25 artists' work included on the release, 14 were overseas artists. Of the 11 Australian artists on the compilation, four had previously released work through Clan Analogue.

Live Events

Mobile Strategies – Friday, 25th of October, 2019

Mobile Strategies was held at Café Gummo in Thornbury as part of the 2019 Darebin Music Feast to launch the new Clan Analogue compilation Mobile Strategies. The evening commenced with an open electronic music jam session, followed by live sets from 477, Maddest Kings Alive, Aday, KOshowKO and Ming, all of whom have music on the album. Live visuals were presented by Object_State and Aday.

Clan Analogue Live in Drone Lockdown

Clan Analogue Live in Drone Lockdown was performed online on Saturday, 16th of May, during the initial Covid-19 lockdown. Kazumichi Grime, Michael Mildren, figital, David Prescott-Steed, iubar project, WiLL-i-ROMS, Zog and Reductionist performed on the night, all of whom have submitted music for the forthcoming Clan Analogue drone compilation. The event was strongly based on improvisation, with all artists improvising together online in various combinations throughout the course of the evening. Jamulus software was used to facilitate online performer interaction. The event was live-streamed via the Clan Analogue Twitch channel, and provided a basis for planning a similar event later in the year to launch the forthcoming album.

Impact of Covid-19 on Clan Analogue activities

Due to the pandemic lockdown, Clan Analogue's scheduled showcase performance at the Broadmeadows Street Festival and Michael Mildren's scheduled set at a Glen Eira Council event were both cancelled. Clan Analogue will stay in touch with the relevant councils regarding having these planned performances potentially rescheduled for 2021.

Clan Analogue Online Presence

Clan Analogue has continued its growth in followers on online platforms Facebook, Youtube, Soundcloud, Twitter and Instagram.

Clan Analogue has also made increased use of its Twitch channel, using this platform for the Clan Analogue Live in Drone Lockdown event in May 2020.
